American Statistical Association Membership Social

Want to know more about membership in the ASA? This is a valuable organization for students and professionals in the statistical community. During this informal membership social, you will learn about all about the benefits of membership, from the resources available through the ASA to advantages in the academic and professional worlds. Students who are thinking about joining the organization will learn how, and students who are already involved are invited to find out how to make the most of their membership. Subs and snacks will be provided.
